Rotary Club Holds Father & Son Banquet At Wig-A-Mog Lodge

The regular Rotary meeting this week was Father and Son Night, and was held at Wig-A-Mog, where one of the largest turnouts in some time enjoyed the dinner and the games between the young fellows and their elder friends.

The guest speaker of the evening was Mr. J. Woods, Principal of the Lindsay High School who spoke on the relationship of father and son & on the importance to the child's future the father's guidance meant.

"I noted, the speaker said, 'the tone and pride in the voice of the fathers here tonight when they were introducing 'My Son' and this is a natural thing as most fathers see in their son the things they hope for and the fulfilment of the dreams they hold.'"

In speaking to the fathers present, he said, "Fathers, your son needs your association and always remember that you are the first hero he had and you do not want to change his views on this by actions that will spoil his dreams. Words are not enough, you must set an example by deeds and action."

"It is my belief," the speaker went on to say, "that far too many parents are passing the responsibility on to the social services and the schools and they would pass more of it on to churches if the churches would accept it."

Fathers should be the leaders of their sons and the mothers should be the guiding light of the daughters. It is a terrible thing to hear a parent say that they can do nothing with their children. It shows that they have failed in their duty.

To the young guests the speaker had a special message and that was "Do not give up the effort of making a pal of your father too easily. Remember he has already traveled the road that you are just starting on and that he is a guide to the things that you dream."

The speaker was introduced by J. Robertson who said "It is indeed an honor to introduce a man who has such experience in guiding the footsteps of the coming generation."

H. Hurlihay thanked the speaker on behalf of the Rotary and said "we have listened to a talk that will give many of us food for thought for some time to come."

Presentation Made To Retiring Manager

A group of about thirty Haliburton business people joined together to make a presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Haggan of the Bank of Montreal as a token of friendship over the years that they have spent in Haliburton and also a birthday gift to Mr. Haggan. Mr. Harold Black read the following address: "It was indeed with a feeling of deep loss that we learned recently of your intended departure from our village and so at this very informal gathering of some of your everyday customers we should like to express our gratitude and deep appreciation for the understanding manner in which you have always treated our business problems. Many times there have been over-drafts, loans, and individual problems which you have handled in a personal way that endeared you to us. After 12 years of loyal service in our midst we all felt that we wanted to express our regrets in some tangible way and would like you and your good wife to accept this lamp with our very best wishes for your continued health and happiness in your new home. (An electric table lamp was the gift presented).

Norman R. Grose, who will succeed Charles Haggan to the position of Manager at the Haliburton Branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Weekly Newspapers Held Convention

by Winnifred Stokes

The seven year itch to meet in Halifax, sent 300 editors and publishers of weekly newspapers across Canada, on a tour of the Maritime Provinces, last week, prior to the 27th annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association held in the Nova Scotian Hotel at Halifax, N.S., September 12 and 14. After the business sessions they went by train, and by air, to spend the week end in Prince Edward Island, as guests of the Provincial government.

On the way to Halifax the publishers travelled in a special deluxe C.P.R. train (the Majestic used to transport their Majesties across Canada in 1939 and admittedly the best special to roll out of Montreal in ten years) and as they passed through the Annapolis Valley and Grand Pre they were supplied with apples from the nearby orchards, and gallons of apple glow cider. The return trip was made on the Canadian National Railways. A trip to sea on a destroyer or a minesweeper and a close-up of the "Warrior" were added features provided by the Army, Navy and Air Force. Transportation problems disappeared like magic under the skillful direction of F. E. D. MacDowell, director of public relations for the C.N.R. in Ontario; Hugh Campbell

Stork Wins Race To Hospital

Mr. Albert Buchanan made an attempt to beat the stork to the Red Cross Outpost Hospital in Haliburton from his home in Eagle Lake, but the stork won out and his daughter was born in the back seat of the car. When Nurse Gibbs went out to assist the patient from the car she found the mother and new daughter doing fine, but the father will be some time getting over the shock. "I never want to go through that again" he stated.

Nurse Gibbs reports that more girls than boys are arriving at the Hospital, the proportion being three to one.

Bank of Montreal Manager, Chas. Haggan To Retire

Norman R. Grose Appointed Manager

It has been announced by the Bank of Montreal that Norman R. Grose, accountant at the Niagara Falls office of the bank, is to succeed Charles Haggan as manager of the local branch next month. Mr. Haggan, who has been in charge of the branch here since 1933, is retiring on pension. He plans to settle in Aurora after his retirement, and expects to move there sometime in November.

New Manager Has Quarter Century Experience

His successor, Mr. Grose, joined the bank at his birthplace, Peterborough, Ont., in 1921. Since then he has served at a number of important Ont. branches, including Trenton, Guelph, Fort Erie North and the Dundas street and Roncesvalles avenue and Danforth and Logan avenues offices in Toronto. In 1938 he was appointed accountant at Niagara Falls, where he has been stationed up to the time of his present promotion to management at Haliburton.

In Niagara Falls, Mr. Grose is a charter member of the Kinsmen Club which was formed there seven years ago. He was treasurer of this organization for two years. Golf and fishing and skating in winter are his preferred recreational activities.

Retiring Manager Here Thirteen Years

Mr. Haggan came to Haliburton thirteen years ago from Oakwood, where he was manager. A native of Aylmer, Ont., he began his career there in 1912. He received his first appointment, in 1919, as accountant at Drumbo, whence he was transferred in the same capacity to Mount Forest six years later. In 1932 Mr. Haggan was given charge of the Oakwood branch and came to Haliburton a year later.

Active in Community Projects

As treasurer of several local organizations, Mr. Haggan has been instrumental in the worthwhile work done by these for the district. He did a great deal in connection with the building of the Red Cross

Outpost, which is outstanding as the best-equipped small hospital in the province. He is still a member of the board, and was treasurer for a number of years. He holds the same office in the Rotary Club and with the local tourist association. It is through the efforts of this association that the tourist trade has been built up and that Haliburton has developed as a tourist centre. Although Mr. Haggan is naturally looking forward to his years of retirement, he intends to put them to good use and will undoubtedly make as useful contributions to the community life of Aurora as he has to that of Haliburton.

Minden Rec. Club Hold Weiner Roast On Twelve Mile Lake

The Minden Recreation Club got away to a good start with a Corn and Weiner Roast that was held on the shores of Twelve Mile Lake the other night and combining business with pleasure the bunch held the installation of officers at the same time.

Reg. Welch was picked as the President and the Vice Pres. is that great base ball fan and player Muriel Boice. Then they picked Ken Lewis for all the work that goes with being Secretary. The job of handling the money was handed to Pat Kelly and knowing that the Air Force turned out some pretty good publicity men they handed that job, under the name of Publicity Secretary, to Bud Boice. Then they picked four team captains to take charge of the entertainment end of things, but eased up on them by taking it a month about between them.

This Club is formed to take care of the recreation problems of the young people of the village and they hope that they will have a membership of at least one hundred to take part in hockey, skiing, dances and badminton as well as to put on some good plays during the winter months.

The Club wish to thank Mr. Nesbitt for donating his bus that took the gang to the lake and also to the driver who drove them out there. They also include in their thanks, for the good time they had on their first meeting, the name of Mr. John Lister for the generous donation of corn for the roast.

Getting away to such a grand start they hope that all the young people of the village will get into the swing and make the Club a grand success and that they will have all the members they can handle.

Tourist Association Plan Program For Progress

Will Hold General Meeting October 9th

The Haliburton Tourist Association held their reorganization meeting at Wig-A-Mog and in spite of the weather there was a very large turnout of Lodge owners and business men from all parts of the County. Ron Curry acted as Chairman and a discussion of past performances of the organization took place and proposed plans for future discussion at a later meeting were laid before the gathering. The election of Executive Officers for the coming year was the first thing on the agenda of new business. Sixteen were nominated and a motion was passed to enlarge the number of officers from 12 to 16. All nominations were elected by acclamation and the following will make up the Executive — C. H. Irwin, Sherwood Forest Camp; Mr. Edwards, Edgewood Lodge; Fred Jones, Drag Lake Lodge; W. Britain, Old Mill Lodge; Lorne Dawson, Real Estate Agent; C. Watson, Buttermilk Falls; Ron Curry, Garage Operator; Holly Robertson, Wig-A-Mog Lodge; Harold Black, Merchant; E. Kaiser, Highland Lodge; W. H. Walker, Glen Eagles; Murray Robertson, Northern Eagle; R. Plato, Terrace Inn; Miss E. Hart, Hart Lodge; Gordon Rogers, Cottage Owner. The two local Members of Parliament were named Honorary Presidents and the Reeves Honorary Members of the Executive.

Seek Improvement In Train And Telephone Service

The matter of improved train and telephone services were taken under discussion, also the matter of a better mail service. It was felt that the poor service we are getting at the present time is detrimental to tourist trade in the whole district.

Discuss Water Levels

Water levels were also taken up and it was felt that there could be a better standard of control the year round and that a more standard level could be maintained.

Possibility of Fish Hatchery

The matter of fish and re-stocking the lakes was also taken under consideration and it was pointed out that the Hon. L. Frost had at a previous meeting stated that there was a possibility of having a Fish Hatchery in the County in the near future.

Elect Officers

It was decided that the Executive Officers would elect the President, Vice President and Secretary-Treasurer from among their own members and that a special meeting would be held right after the general meeting. The general meeting was adjourned and the Executive meeting started immediately and the following were elected — Ron Curry, President, by unanimous vote; C. Irwin, 1st Vice President; Lorne Dawson, 2nd Vice President; H. Black, Secretary-Treasurer.

It was decided there would be a general meeting called for Wednesday, October 9th, at which time there would be a speaker from the Tourist Bureau and the Hon. L. Frost would be asked to speak on the Government plan. The executive will meet at 2 p.m. on that day for a special session and draw up plans that will be submitted to the general meeting and dinner at 6.30 at Wig-A-Mog Lodge. The executive will discuss the rates per member that are to be required to carry out the plans and to pay a Secretary for looking after correspondence and keeping a Central office in touch with each Lodge. The meeting adjourned at 11.30.

EDITORIALS

EQUINOX

Another equinox is tallied off and officially another summer ends. Autumn comes, on the records by which we divide time and measure life, and the days and the nights for a brief period are almost equal, dark to light, and light to dark. And now the nights will have the smell and touch of frost and the days will have the crisp-leaf rustle of fall, the brown and yellow of another season's growth come to maturity.

That is the predominant note of autumn: maturity. Not death nor even hibernation. It brings a summing up, a sweetness in the apple and a ripeness in the grain. Spring was a sprouting, an eager reaching for the sun, and summer was lush growth and blossom and the beginning of fruitfulness. But autumn is harvest, the maturity toward which the bud, the leaf, the blossom all reached in their time.

No season, of course, is complete in itself. And our arbitrary boundaries of time are more convenient than conclusive. Summer ends and autumn comes over the land on schedules governed by the land itself, not by either stars or calendar. Travel 200 north or south and you touch the year in another spot.

But here, in this particular latitude, you can look out over the hills and see autumn on the ridges, walking down from the north to these valleys where the mist lies at sun-up and the maples begin to flame. And you know that summer is gone.

LONGER EVENINGS

Anyone with a warm place in the house—near livingroom fireplace or the kitchen stove—knows what compensation to expect for the loss of daylight which begins each year about this time.

With the shorter days come longer evenings. The family gets reacquainted. There is less time for baseball, tennis, golf with folk you only partly know, and more time to share one's summer experiences with those to whom they mean most.

Of course a boy doesn't often come home, even after dusk, because he has got tired of staying out. But once he is home, he's gladder of it. Moreover, Mother can't stay out gardening all hours now. And girls, for whatever reasons girls do things, seem to find home more interesting when everybody's there who ought to be.

You can fill a longish list with the nice things that come along this time of year: lamplight of neighbor's windows striking out to meet your own across the field or across the street, houses that have been quiet most of the summer suddenly alive again. We don't mean to make your list. Just to remind you to keep a place on it for the way day and night divide the hours.

People who think the country is going to the dogs, that their own political party hasn't a chance against the scoundrels on the other side, and that home-town ball teams are going to lose the most important games—such people talk about shorter days. All others think about those pleasant longer evenings.

IT'S ASHBY-DE-LA-ZOUCH—BUT NO SEA

Tranquil Ashby-de-la-Zouch—80 full miles from the sea—was besieged this summer by flocks of unsuspecting tourists, complete with bathing suits, rubber floats, and sand buckets for little Willie.

This quiet, Leicestershire market town, blames it all on a song. The words, written by an American, go:

"It's a little English town by the sea: :

Its skies are full of blue and its cows are full of moo

In Ashby-de-la-Zouch by the sea,"

The London Daily Mail looked up Mr. G. E. Hutton, owner of the Royal Hotel. They found him swamped with long distance telephone calls from energetic would-be visitors. But he had developed a simple technique to handle the situation. When the telephone rang, Mr. Hutton gently and apologetically would carol, "Sorry, but we have no sea here."

"Tourists have even drained the limited supply of bathing suits to be found in Ashby shops, and are very put out when I tell them how far we are from the sea," Mr. Hutton declared.

And officials at the Town Council Offices agreed that there were not only no more bathing suits, but that there simply wasn't space for any more visitors.

The irony of it all is that Ashby-de-la-Zouch is liable to become less famous for a historic eleventh century castle which it has, than for a sea, which alas, it has not.

THE QUIET HOUR

REV. V. R. BROWNE

"In quietness and confidence shall be your strength"

It has been a good many years since those words were first written. It seems strange to us today to think of men needing the quietness of solitude so many hundreds of years ago. By comparison, their lives were simple, restricted and serene. Yet the great souls—the thoughtful, spiritually-minded men and women of every age have known that only in the quietness can strength be developed.

To the city-dweller this glorious 'Highland', country seems a paradise. Here there is a peaceful serenity. Here there is a cessation from the rush and turmoil of city life. Surely, here if anywhere, we should find the quietness upon which our strength depends.

It is not always the outward surroundings, though, that create real peace. We have known, for instance, busy executives caught up in the rush of industry who knew the secret of the quietness. On the other hand, we have seen people in isolation distraught by restlessness and anxiety. Or again—we have known persons who have all that could be desired in worldly comfort without true peace of mind; just as we have known poverty-possessed persons whose very lives radiated stability and peace.

What is it, then, that determines whether you and I know the strength of the quietness? Surely it is something within ourselves, yet something from without as well. It is a fact worth keeping in mind, that quietness of heart is a gift of God. It is woven into the fabric of our lives until it is a part of our character.

This is the quietness that comes from God: a firm consciousness that our lives are in God's care; a certain knowledge that sin in all its forms is forgiven; and a resolution to live each day for the sole purpose of preparing ourselves for eternity.

Quietness of heart depends on all three: the Church has always led men and women in this way and today in a world as complicated as ours, the Church dispenses the Grace of God to achieve this end.

Along Main Street

The stork sure has been busy around here lately but he has a good group of trained assistants at the Outpost Hospital who are working overtime to help him, they say. Good work girls.

We always knew that this was a timber county but when we saw Ernie swinging the axe on a tree right on main street the other day sure brought the proof to our front door.

We guess that Perc was trying to beat the "Rocket" the other night and get the express parcels out on time when he went for a roll at the R.R. Crossing. What say Perc?

We all like to have visitors now and then but the one that left such a strong perfume along the streets the other night sure made things unpleasant for a while. We should put up a sign No Skunks Allowed.

Well all the hay is out of the rink, we are informed and now we can get ready to flood it or something and there is one certain merchant still talking to himself. Bad habit Moss.

Some of the new pillows that are on display in one of the stores along the street make one feel like getting more sleep. Don't be surprised if some one goes to bed there some night Lloyd.

Some people would like to know if the boys were really after ducks the other night or was it just an excuse. Maybe Bruno or Carl can tell us. One thing certain we did not see the ducks.

Some people thought that they were back at the Lindsay Fair the other day when a gang of the younger crowd started to use main street for a horse race track. Watch out Woody, the horse might throw you.

A lot of people will be glad when they get the automatic gas pumps in, especially those that raise a seat refilling the bowls, but what will you do to get warm on a winter morning Glen?

The new desk they put up at the hotel sure looks nice. If the walls of the new restaurant will be an attraction. Nice work Bill.

They seemed to be having a little trouble at the show the other night the power kept going off. Maybe some one blew a fuse. How come Lou?

Overheard in a barber shop the other day, "The women are getting into my hair so much I want it cut short. Any better now Norm?"

HALIBURTON

Several land owners have been complaining that people are doing a lot of shooting on private property the last week and that there have been a few narrow escapes from stray bullets.

This matter has been placed in the hands of the local police and they hope that this will stop before they have to lay a murder or manslaughter charge against some one.

Labor News

Meeting in the imposing halls of the University of Montreal, the 29th session of the International Labor Conference got underway last week. Delegates representing the governments, employers and organized workers of some 35 countries are getting through the formalities and settling down to the serious business of the conference. The obvious absentee among the states is the Soviet Union.

Minister of Labor Humphrey Mitchell was nominated and unanimously elected president of the conference. To some of the Canadian delegates, at least, it must have been painful to hear Mr. Mitchell's nomination seconded by Sir Joseph Hallsworth, head of the British workers' delegation. In his prepared speech the Minister referred grandly to the social legislation passed by Canada, whether federally or provincially. "We believe," he said, "that in the last generation legislative enactments for the advancement of the living standards of our people have proceeded with a degree of alacrity comparable to that of any other nation." He blandly ignored the fact that a good many countries are about two generations ahead of Canada in this respect and that Canada is far behind in the implementation of ILO conventions. In fact, some of the dependent countries to whose welfare this conference is giving consideration are superior to us in setting up ILO standards.

All is not brotherly love at the conference. Objection has been raised against the Greek workers' delegate by a member of the British TUC. He charged that the dictatorial Greek government had arbitrarily appointed the workers' delegate who was not representative of the labor movement of his country. The matter has been referred to the Credentials Committee.

One of the questions of most interest to Canada will be the matter of the implementation of ILO conventions in view of Canada's federal structure. The division of legislative jurisdiction between the federal and provincial governments under the BNA Act has hitherto been the stumbling block, perhaps a convenient one insofar as the old-line parties are concerned.

and Jack Maund of the C.P.R. public relations department.

Two British editors, returning to Britain on the Rangitiki after a tour down under, joined the Canadian weekly editors at luncheon and dinner on the second day, and the spokesman declared that everywhere they had found ties of Empire were stronger than ever before.

Leo Dolan, chief of the Dominion travel bureau, emphasized the necessity of dressing up Canada to meet the keen competition coming next year in the tourist business. He urged communities to retain their Canadianism. A recent survey revealed that only one-tenth of one per cent of the tourists who visited here had a word of complaint. Practically all the others were satisfied with the fair prices, delighted with the country, and spoke highly of the kindness and courtesy of the people. Ninety per cent of these people indicated they will return to Canada next year if the opportunity is available.

At the close of the business sessions conducted by Dr. Hugh Templin, L.L.D., of Galt, presentation of an automobile was made to Clarence V. Charters of Brampton, who resigned as manager of the C.W. N.O. after eleven years service.

Sideglances On Haliburton Industry

INTERNATIONAL COOPERAGE CANADA LIMITED

Fourteen years ago the International Cooperage Canada Limited started their mill at Eagle Lake under the management of the late Mr. Markus Snook, who went out buying timber from the farmers of the district to keep the mill going.

Today the company own their own timber limits and the cutting is all done by contract work and the logs are hauled into the mill by truck.

There are many of the present staff at the mill who have been there since the first day and the war record of the employees of this industry stands high among all other companies in Canada. With a staff of sixty at the outbreak of war, one third joined the armed services of their country and two of this number gave their lives. They were Jim Nicholes and Bud LaRue.

The Cooperage, as its called, is the largest mill of this type in the country and it has not always been easy going to reach this position and to keep production going.

In 1935, fire wiped the whole mill out and again in 1940 the mill was again hit by fire, then in 1941 the boiler house was burnt down but production was essential to the war effort of the Allies and no time was lost in getting under way again.

Under the management of Mr. J. F. Greer of Alabama, U.S.A. and Assistant Manager Harold W. Morrison, the product of this mill reached out to all parts of the world.

Containers for powdered milk, eggs and chocolate where among the many articles that were in use. Special containers for dropping food to the troops in Africa and containers for the Pacific were just a few of the things that made this a very essential industry.

Using the natural resources of the Haliburton County, this mill is one of the steadiest industries in the district and gives year round employment, not only to its own staff but to the contractors and their crew of bushmen, and also to the Canadian National Railway, who handle most of the finished products out of Haliburton.

The mill has a very good record regarding accidents to workers having had very few of a serious nature during its fourteen years of operation and it is one of the few places where there is a qualified First Aid man on duty.

Back in 1936 Con. Woodcock lost his right arm while at work in the mill but he soon learned to use his left hand and is today one of the valuable employees of the company.

Situated on the shore of Eagle Lake, this plant is a hive of activity the year round and one of the main sources of livelihood for many families in the district.

One of the things that the employees of the company take great pride in is the fact that the product of their hands saw service "On Land, On the Sea, In the Air and Under the Sea".

The spirit of comradeship between management and employee is another thing that they are proud of. If one of the employees runs into tough luck through sickness or anything they are all there to help him through. This is carried to a point far above the average of most plants.

The response to all the Victory Loans during the war is one that any plant in Canada would find hard to beat.

All in all the company and their employees have won the respect of the whole country. Good Luck Cooperage and your employees.

Youth Centre To Hold Weekly Dances

The Haliburton Community Youth Centre held its second meeting of the current season on Monday night at the Community Hall. Thirty members were in attendance. The meeting opened with a short devotional period led by Rev. Kerr, followed by the business session which was conducted by President Lloyd Coneybeare. The President outlined the year's activities and pointed out that the entertainment being offered by the Youth Centre this year will be "tops". It was decided to hold a weekly dance each Tuesday evening at the Town Hall with the first one scheduled for this coming Tuesday, October 1st. Music will be supplied by Red Greer and his Popular Swing Band.

After the business session the President introduced Red Greer, who gave a short talk on music. Red pointed out that he would give tap dancing lessons to anyone who is interested, classes to start immediately. He also stated that one of his bandsmen, Danny Walstrom would give instructions to anyone interested in playing a musical instrument. Some popular selections were played by Red Greer, Danny Walstrom and Al Blanchard and a jovial sing-song was included in the night's activities.

This Monday night the Youth Centre will meet and festivities will get under way at 8 p.m. President Lloyd Coneybeare assured all present of a bang-up evening. So Youths - how can you afford to miss it? Members and visitors are welcome to pack the old town hall.

Motorists are not paying attention to the white line that the Department of Highways put in the centre of the Minden-Haliburton Highway and in the past few days there have been several near accidents due to driver's using the wrong side of the road. The Police are not going to let this type of driving go any longer and according to Chief Duval they intend to lay charges whenever they catch anyone failing to use proper care in this section of the road. There have been far too many accidents this year.

The habit of riding bicycles on the sidewalk that some youngsters in the village have acquired is not going to be overlooked by the Police any longer. According to the law, the police are empowered to confiscate bicycles for this infraction and from now on they intend to enforce the law.

This may be just a thoughtless act on the part of many cyclists and we know that all boys and girls will co-operate with Chief Duval and do their riding on the road and in this way hang on to those valuable bicycles which are so hard to get.

Northern Electric Program Wins La Fleche Trophy

The Northern Electric Hour begins its second season on the air on Monday, October 7th, over the CBC's Dominion network and Quebec Regional network. Highlighted by the "Forward with Canada" feature — historical sketches honoring Canadian cities and great Canadian achievements — the program was awarded the LaFleche trophy for the best commercial broadcast series during the 1945-46 season.

(The LaFleche trophy was instituted in 1943 by Major-General L. R. LaFleche, prominent French-Canadian statesman and soldier, and carries with it twenty-eight possible awards — fourteen English and fourteen French. Canadian radio producers are the judges. The Northern Electric Hour won the trophy "for the most important contribution to 'Canadian radio' during its first season of broadcasting".)

The program this season is styled after that of last year. The "Forward with Canada" feature, narrated by John Drainie, remains in by popular request. The opening series will be based on more great Canadian achievements.

The 40-piece concert orchestra will be again under the capable leadership of Paul Scherman, Toronto's up-and-coming orchestra leader and instrumentalist. Guest artists will be featured.

The Northern Electric Hour is produced by Gordon Forsyth.

THREE RELIGIOUS GROUPS
ADOPT BASIC POSTULATE

Affirmation that "the dignity, rights, and duties of man derive from his creation by God and his relation to God" is the premise upon which a statement on "fundamental postulates" of Christianity and Judaism recently drawn up at Oxford, England, is based.

The statement—the first of its kind ever adopted by an international group of Protestants, Roman Catholics and Jews—was adopted at the recent International Conference of Christians and Jews. Participating in the Conference were large delegations from the United States and Great Britain. Other nations represented included Austria, Canada, Denmark, France, Germany, Holland, South Africa, Sweden, and Switzerland.

The statement follows:

I. As Christians and Jews, While recognizing the important religious differences between us, we affirm on the basis of divine revelation that the dignity, rights, and duties of man derive from his creation by God and his relation to God.

We acknowledge God as the Creator and Lord of the universe, and as the Father of all human beings: we see in their relation to God the bond which unites them, even amid division and conflict, and in Him the authority to which all are subject. Moreover, we find the basic motive for ethical conduct in man's response to God as He makes Himself known in His wisdom and goodness.

Both Owe Obedience

By the will of God in creation man is both an individual and a member of society, so that both individuals and communities owe obedience to His rule. Moreover, there is true community only where there is full personal life, and vice versa.

III. Therefore:

(a) We acknowledge the authority of the moral principles which are implicit in the nature of man in virtue of his relation to God and of his qualities as a rational, moral, and social being. From these it follows that it is the duty of men to respect in others the right to:—

(i) Life: Since each human being is the child of God and has special value in His sight as an individual, his life must be respected and preserved. At the same time, he must similarly respect the life of his fellowman and is under obligation to promote his good.

(ii) Liberty: The responsibility which falls upon man as a child and servant of God involves the necessity for freedom. He must therefore be given opportunity for the free exercise of the spiritual and moral powers entrusted to him. Life in organized society makes demands and entails restrictions upon the individual, but the fundamental principles of liberty alike for the individual and communities may never be sacrificed.

(iii) Personal Dignity: Each individual possesses worth as a person and must treat others as such, while other persons and the community must accord similar treatment to him. This principle involves recognition of his status as a member of society with a contribution to make to the whole, and is opposed to discrimination on grounds of color, race, or creed.

(b) We repudiate both the individualism which would make a man a law unto himself and the totalitarianism which would subordinate and sacrifice all other values to race, nation, state, class, or party. Against the first, we claim that only as a man accepts himself from God and all his life as under God can he truly live. Against the second we affirm that all human institutions stand under God's rule and judgment and that none may usurp the loyalty which is due to Him alone.

Principles Outlined

III. Rights are exercised and duties discharged in a world which includes things as well as persons. Here we would maintain the following principles:

(i) Things must be subordinated to persons, and property rights should always be secondary to considerations of human welfare and social justice.

(ii) Nature is to be respected and not merely exploited. It is a revelation of God and a sphere of His purpose; man may not squander its bounty and must show due regard for its beauty.

IV. The right attitude of a community to its members, of persons to persons, and of persons to things, cannot be fully achieved without the recognition, alike by the individual and by the community, of God and of the relation of man and nature to Him.

Corporate recognition of God will include, in addition to the moral obligations of society, all that comes within the compass of worship.

Divided as we are in the forms of public worship, we are united in affirming the value of it and the need to participate in it if a right human order is to be achieved. Religious communities have, therefore, the right to exist and also the right to their own freedom of activity. Without the recognition of this right, the political community is impoverished.

Moral Law Binding

V. The moral law which is rooted in God and implanted in man's nature is binding, not only upon individuals, but also upon society in all its groupings.

(i) Within the state there should be respect for the family, freedom for a rich and varied group life; above the state is the will of God as manifest in the universal moral law.

(ii) Society is pre-eminently the sphere of justice, by which the relationships between individuals are so ordered that each may perform his duties and be assured of his rights. This can be achieved only under some form of government which recognizes the social, political and religious rights and responsibilities of individuals and groups.

(iii) Society is equally under an obligation to use all its resources for the welfare of all its members. That implies education, adequate provision against want, opportunity of service and conditions which will enable every individual to be at home in the community and every community to be at home in the larger human society.

VII. Man's recognition of himself and of his neighbor as children of God should issue in a charity and righteousness which, while but imperfectly embodied in the forms and laws of organized society work constantly to transform them into an ever more adequate expression. We therefore, Christians and Jews alike, call upon all who share the religious convictions and the ethical standards here set out to co-operate for the realization of this ideal.

Reports indicate the nation's corn crop is excellent, and adding that emanating from the radio programs we should have a surplus. We could export some of it!

worth, Lincoln, Welland, Peel, Halton, York and the townships of Puslinch in Wellington county and Bickering, Whitby and Whitby East in Ontario County. In these areas the season will be closed.

The dates set are October 5th to October 14th inclusive, and the bag limit is five (5) birds per day, and twenty (20) birds for the season.

There is to be no open season on Pinnated Grouse (Prairie Hen). These birds occurred formerly only as stragglers in the Province, but they are now established on Manitoulin Island, and protection is to be afforded to them so that they may have a chance to increase.

ONTARIO DIVISION
WOMEN'S WORK
CHAIRMAN ANNOUNCES
FALL PROGRAM

Mrs. E. C. Coleman, chairman, announced recently the fall and winter program for Women's Work committees in the Ontario Division of Red Cross. "Many post war problems face us," she stated, "and it is hoped that the urgency of these problems will be realized by every Women's Work Committee so that they will resume work to meet this crisis."

The children of Great Britain and Europe were still in need of help and the Canadian Red Cross has opened a distributing centre at Bayeux in Normandy, manned by Canadian personnel. Distribution of clothing will be made to the needy children in that part of France which the Canadian Army helped liberate. Requirements for civilian clothing continued to be in great number.

In addition supplies for Blood Donor Centres and for local requirements will provide much work. Ontario quotas include large quantities of children's and women's clothing as well as 3000 layettes. This year all supplies for Ontario Division Outpost Hospitals will be the responsibility of Women's Work Committees.

Ration News

Butter Coupons

There is some confusion among customers over which coupons are valid in their old and new ration books, according to Rationing authorities. It is pointed out that R21 is the last butter coupon to be used in the old ration book and that R22 to R25 will not be declared valid. First butter coupon to become good in the new ration book is B26 which comes due Sept. 26th.

Apples Up

Ceiling prices for the 1946 crop of Eastern Canadian apples will average about 5c per bushel lower than 1945 prices, it was announced by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. However, it was indicated that apples are now selling somewhat below the maximum prices allowed.

In previous years, the dates on which storage allowance were authorized varied according to the varieties of apples. In the new pricing order storage allowances on all varieties begin November 1.

Old Coupons

Coupons still valid in the old ration books are: S1 to 25 for sugar and preserves; R13 to 21 for butter and Q 1 to 4 for meat, according to the Rationing administration. They also announce that no additional coupons in the old ration books will be declared valid.

Business Permits

Whenever any business changes hands, the sale or transfer must be reported to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board which will then issue a new license to the purchaser, WPTB Licensing Officers point out.

Every business, whether manufacturing goods or commodities for re-sale, or operating as a service business, is required to hold a WPTB license they explain.

This license is not transferrable. Consequently, when a business is sold or when any change in the ownership takes place, or if a business is suspended, the license covering it must be returned to the WPTB for cancellation. The new owner is then required to apply for a license in his own name.

Grape Ceilings

Ceiling prices for grapes in six quart open or flat baskets are announced by the Prices Board as follows:

Sheridan & Black Roger	and all	all other
other red varieties	varieties
Toronto	.69	.66
Barrie, Lindsay, Peterboro
Oshawa and
Orillia	.72	.68
Hamilton, Niagara
Falls, St. Catharines
and Welland	.68	.65
North Bay	.80	.75
Sault Ste. Marie	.98	.92
Kirkland Lake	.86	.81
Haileybury	.82	.79
Sudbury	.82	.79
Timmins	.91	.86
Cochrane	.91	.86

These ceiling prices are based on the LCL express rate from Grimsby to the above places, WPTB explains.

She Did Her Part

Among those who climbed the stairs to the second story of the town hall in Niagara-on-the-Lake to call for her new ration book was Mrs. Susan Patridge who is 103 years old.

WEST GUILFORD
EAGLE LAKE

Following their wedding ceremony in Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gladding motored to West Guilford to spend their honeymoon with friends and relatives at West Guilford and Maple Lake. The bride is the former Miss Marjorie Barry of Maple Lake.

Mrs. Bert Curry and son John of Eagle Lake, accompanied by Mrs. Reta Roberts and Miss Clara Watt of Haliburton, made a motor trip through the North Bay and Calendar district this week.

Early Thursday evening, the sharp turn at the bottom of the hill before Mr. Henry Barnum's residence at West Guilford, was the scene of a minor collision between Mr. Willis Walker, West Guilford bound and Mr. Vertle Fry's truck headed in the opposite direction. Although all parties involved were somewhat shaken up, no one was critically injured and Miss Sheila Fry, one of the little girls riding on the back of the truck was thrown over a seven foot embankment. Mr. Walker was unaccompanied. The truck, however sustained a broken drive shaft and the front of Mr. Walker's car was badly smashed.

Despite repeated warnings on the part of Fire Wardens and lumbermen, a party of fishermen were instigators of a fire on the Percy Lake limits of the International Cooperage Co., which, had it not been for the circumspection of vigilant bushmen, might have soon developed into an imminent menace. Ignited several weeks previous, the fire smoldered thru the butts and trunks of the little cedars beside the lake, and during the recent period of dry weather, they blazed up and the fire dilated over a wider area. Thanks to the united efforts of Mr. W. A. and Mr. A. H. Currys' logging gangs, it was brought under control Thursday and we are assured that the danger is now past.

The Haliburton Golf Links are now entering into the final round of their annual trophy. Some of Haliburton's best Golfers are teeing off for the local trophy. The match between Bobby Nichol and Harry MacDonald was played last Tuesday instead of Sunday. Nichol trailing by three holes in the first round came back to take the final round and earn his way into the finals. There will be another tournament in the near future for the Peterboro Examiner Golf Trophy.

Before many days now the National Hockey League will open its doors on the first peace time hockey season since 1939.
